Dyed leather with matching stitching

TOLEDO | INTERVIEW LCK

This South American cowhide leather is dyed with opaque pigments after tanning and sanding. This makes it look uniform and most natural damage such as scars are eliminated.

CÓRDOBA | MAINTENANCE LCK

Cordoba leather has been specially developed for seating furniture and is close to the original cow hide, so that the natural characteristics of the leather remain visible, such as scars, insect bites, etc. This beautiful cow leather originates in South America and only the best hides are selected. The semianiline finish creates the vintage effect and gives this leather its rich appearance and wonderfully soft grip.

IDAHO | MAINTENANCE LCK

Idaho leather is very close to the original cowhide with only minimal covering. This means that natural features such as nicks, scratches, scars, insect bites, growth stripes, skin folds, veins, branding and the like remain visible and may be accentuated. This gives Idaho leather its specific and vibrant character.

BARCA | MAINTENANCE LCK

Barca leather is distinguished by its warm, natural and smooth color palette and friendly touch. It is a type of leather that has had a special treatment that ensures a good wear layer. A special treatment makes the leather extra supple and gives it the appearance that belongs to leather. Natural features remain visible and palpable, although we have made a selection at Nouvion. Some insect bites, scars and other imperfections are part of the charm of this beautiful leather. Barca leather is everyone's friend with the most beautiful selection of colors, suitable for various interiors.

CONGO | MAINTENANCE LCK

A rich type of leather that acquires a beautifully lived-in character over the years of use. The buffalo hides are tanned, barrel dyed, corrected, finished and finally polished by hand. The open fiber structure means that the absorption of dyes can differ per skin part. Some parts are therefore a bit rougher or lighter than others.

PAMPLONA | INTERVIEW LCK

With Pamplona leather you really get something special at home! Pamplona is special because the hides, from which this typical vintage leather is made, originate in South America, mainly Brazil. The life of the animal is even more visible than ever. Think of brand marks, horn bumps, insect bites, bush scratches, calluses and other scars. In short, leather with a story that starts somewhere on the Brazilian high plains and is now continued in your interior.

Scratch and wear resistant

HPL | COLOUR SWATCHES

Hard Pressure Laminate (HPL) is a wear-resistant and impact-resistant plastic layer that is subsequently glued (pressed) onto sheet material in our factory. We use MDF as a base plate to stick the HPL on. HPL consists of a layer of synthetic resin (melamine) impregnated paper layers that are pressed under very high pressure and temperature. The melamine synthetic resin is a hard synthetically made substance. HPL therefore has a hard top layer. Due to the hard top layer, HPL has a high scratch and wear resistance and is resistant to chemicals and heat.
