Special Surface Effects on Vintage (examples)

Oak Naturale "saw-cutting"

This image shows a close-up of oak wood with a 'saw-cutting' finish. The surface is characterized by a dense, fine-grained texture that resembles the vertical lines of a saw blade. The color is a warm, light brown.

Oak Boston "Antique"

This image displays oak wood with an 'Antique' finish. The surface is heavily distressed, showing a mix of dark brown, grey, and light tan tones. The wood grain is visible but partially obscured by the weathered texture.

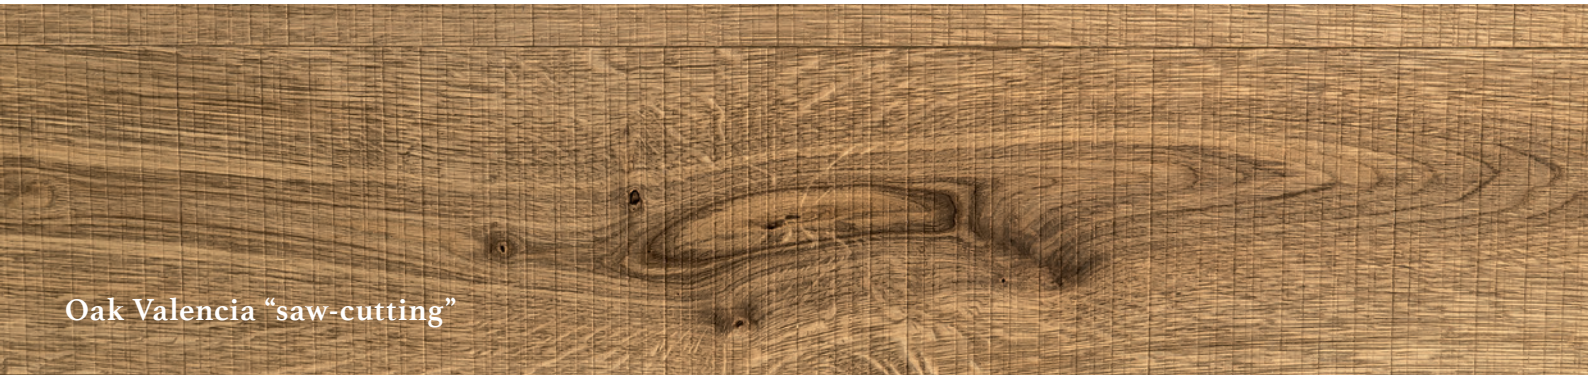

Oak Naturale "Antique"

This image shows oak wood with an 'Antique' finish. The surface is a medium brown color with a slightly distressed texture. The wood grain is clearly visible, and there are some small, dark spots scattered across the surface.

Oak Toronto "Antique"

This image displays oak wood with an 'Antique' finish. The surface is a dark, rich brown color with a slightly distressed texture. The wood grain is visible, and there are some small, dark spots scattered across the surface.

Oak Valencia "saw-cutting"

This image shows oak wood with a 'saw-cutting' finish. The surface is a warm, medium brown color with a dense, fine-grained texture that resembles the vertical lines of a saw blade. The wood grain is visible.

Oak Valencia "Antique"

This image displays oak wood with an 'Antique' finish. The surface is a warm, medium brown color with a slightly distressed texture. The wood grain is clearly visible, and there are some small, dark spots scattered across the surface.
