

BONALDO

Mirtillo New

Painstaking in its processing details, Mirtillo New is a padded stool proposed in two heights. Completely upholstered in leather, eco-leather or emery leather, it features sartorial details and skilful workmanship which embellish its design. The seat, complete with a backrest, comfortably welcomes the body thanks to the carefully calibrated thicknesses. Versatile, timeless and comfortable, Mirtillo New is suitable for contemporary spaces and uses: complementing the counter in the kitchen or in a bar or pub with a refined and urban style, this stool with a light appearance and a robust frame furnishes with elegance and practicality. The aesthetic potential of the full upholstery gives this stool a pleasantly organic look; the possibility of choosing from numerous colours of leather, eco-leather or emery leather make it a piece of furniture with unexpected potential. Thanks to the coordinated chairs (Marta New and Mirta New), it is possible to create environments that share the same refined and rigorous style.
