

Collection ATLANTE

Atlante is a system which offers above all the possibility to be used for all kind of projects and to be made in custom size for every kind of available space.

Atlante can be adapted to every environment since it can have many different looks depending from the room where you put it and from its use: the doors can be very simple, with linear and essential design, but changing the finishing, the covering or the model they can be characterized by a stronger aesthetic impact, influencing also the surrounding.

The structure of this wardrobe gives the idea of solidity thanks to the 4 cm thickness of all the sides and its internal fitting offers a wide range of possibilities in order to recreate the best solution according to everyone's needs.

Atlante is available with hinged and sliding doors.

For hinged doors there are six models available:
